When ACEs rise, academics fall

A study of 2,100 elementary schoolchildren in Spokane makes clear the relationship between Adverse Childhood Experiences and problems in school.

Source: Washington State University Area Health Project

MARK NOWLIN / THE SEATTLE TIMES

https://developingchild.harvard.edu