Get Ready to Unite, Inspire, LEAD! Join the NEA New Colleague Campaign.

The New Colleague Engagement, Recruitment, and Support Campaign begins with you, taking the time to have a one-on-one conversation with your new colleagues. The information you gather will be used by NEA Higher Ed, as well as your local and state affiliates, to provide new colleagues with the support they need to be successful in their higher education careers, whether it's in the classroom, the lab or library, or other critical support work.

Together we will build strong unions that help our members deliver a high-quality higher education to every student on our campuses.

Tips for success:

1. Your conversations should lead to completing the data on the card.
2. Talk about priorities and challenges you face in your careers in higher education.
3. Discuss the New Colleague campaign with members and ask if they are ready to commit to engage in one-on-one conversations with new colleagues on their campuses.

To learn more on how you can lead a New Colleague program on your campus, send an email to:
