In order for NCHE to be an effective voice, it must have dynamic and engaging leadership. Our organization needs to effectively identify the needs of higher education members and advocate for policies that support and advance the concerns of our members. This requires that we fully engage higher education members from across the country. NCHE can be a powerful, unifying voice that speaks for higher education to support initiatives and policies that align with the views and goals of higher education members. Let's be proactive!
