

Alice Somers Biography

Alice Somers is a rising senior at the University of Cincinnati studying Elementary Education with a certificate in Deaf Studies. In fall of 2024, Ms. Somers founded a chapter at her university, and currently serves as the president.

Ms. Somers has served as a current Board of Director for the Ohio Education Association's Aspiring Educator Division as the Underclassman Member at Large for the 2024-2025 school year. During the 2025 OEA-AE Spring Leadership Conference, Ms. Somers was elected as the Southwest Region Representative where she is excited to promote engagement between OEA members and local chapters.

In March of 2025, Ms. Somers was nominated and asked to join the NEA Resolutions Committee for the remainder of the school year. She is excited to have the opportunity to work with the union at the national level, and hopes to continue this opportunity into the following school year.

Ms. Somers' greatest passion lies in ensuring that education, both for educators and students alike, is inclusive and equitable. If elected to the NEA Resolution Committee, Ms. Somers hopes to advocate for the needs of Aspiring Educators, and ensure that resolutions created are supportive, responsive, and respectful to NEA members.
